BOSTON, October 27.

FRIDAY laſt a Veſſel arrived here in Four Days from Annapolis Royal, by whom we have the following Intelligence in a Letter from a Gentleman there, dated October 19, 1746, 'This juſt ſerves to acquaint you, that 'the Canadians continue ſtill about the Fort, tho' they 'make no Attempt, or ſcarce ſhew themſelves 'till provok'd to 'it by us. Two Days ago we narrowly miſs'd ſurprizing an advanced Guard of theirs of about 20 or 30 Men; a Party of ours 'of about 150 being within Shot of them before they were alarmed. The ſame Day we brought off about 16 Head of Cattle 'before their Faces. At preſent the Beſieged are obliged to 'hunt for the Beſiegers, but we are not without ſome Expectation of the Breſt Squadron, unleſs Mr. Liſſick ſhould meet them 'in Time, which, in my Opinion, would prove a mortal Blow to 'France; but we have miſs'd ſuch Opportunities ſo often, that I 'almoſt deſpair. The very great Mortality amongſt their Sailors, &c. the Lateneſs of the Seaſon for opening Trenches '(without which with all their Force they cannot ſucceed) the 'good Spirits of our Gariſon, and the tolerable good Condition 'of our Fort, give us Hopes, that the Monſieurs may once again 'miſs their Aim.

Boſton, November 3. Saturday laſt His Majeſty's Ship Cheſter, Capt. Spry, arrived here from Annapolis Royal, by whom we have the following Letter, dated October 26, 1746. 'I am exceeding glad I have the good News to ſend you of the Departure of the French Fleet and Army, which gives us great Reaſon to rejoice. The Beſiegers walk'd off two Days paſt, and 'we are informed the Fleet left Jebucta about 15 Days ago, 'bound to this Place, but by a violent Gale off Cape Sable, loſt 'two of their Fleet, the Remainder put away for the Weſt Indies, after putting their Pilots they had for this Place on board 'two ſmall Veſſels, and ſending them to Mentz. The ſame 'Morning we had the News of the Enemy's drawing off, a 'French Ship appeared in the Baſon, which was purſued by 'Capt. Spry, Rouſe, Connely and myſelf: I happened to be the foremoſt, and ſaw him the firſt in the Bay, ſhe ſailing out the 'Night before us, but being at a great Diſtance did not follow 'her far. Doubtleſs ſhe was one of the two that were miſſing 'out of the Fleet off Cape Sable; but as the Fleet was very ſickly, I imagine we are as well without her as with her.'

Other Letters from the ſame Place inform us, that the Canadians were gone Home, and the Neutrals return'd to Annapolis; that the Sickneſs was got among the Indians, and that 150 of them had died; that 30 or 40 Veſſels had been ſent to Canada at different Times ſince the Arrival of the Fleet on the Coaſt of Acadia, with all ſorts of Stores. That on the 25th of October the Annapolis Prieſt came to the Fort, and informed them, that Father Magar, a Prieſt that was taken at Louiſbourg the laſt Year, was come over in the French Fleet, and informed him, that the Vice-Admiral who had kill'd himſelf, was recover'd, but had reſigned his Command. That there had been two Men of War in the Harbour of Jebucta all the Summer, which had taken (among others) a Ship with Governor Knowles's Coach and Horſes, and a large Sum of Money for the Payment of the Works at Louiſbourg, and that 7 Veſſels from Canada had been at the Bay of Vert with Proviſions. That when the Fleet came out of France, they had 25,000 Seamen and Soldiers on board, but that they had loſt 2000 in the Paſſage, and buried 1800 at Jebucta; that when they left the Coaſt of Acadia they had 4000 ſick in the Fleet. That if they had not met with a Storm after they left Jebucta, they intended to have attack'd Annapolis with all their Force, having 8 Mortars and a ſufficient Number of Cannon for that Purpoſe. That they intended to have erected a Bomb Battery a croſs the River, oppoſite to the Fort, another at the Red bank, and one at the Cape, about half a Mile off; for the ſpeedy erecting of which a great Number of Faſcines were prepared againſt they came. That their Deſign at firſt was, to take Cape Breton, and then Annapolis Royal; but Thanks to a kind Providence, they are diſappointed in both, tho' they have not met with the leaſt Annoyance from Europe, nor even from our Naval Force in the Vicinity of Jebucta!

CHARLES TOWN, December 1.

Yeſterday arrived here his Majeſty's Ship Aldborough, Michael Everitt, Eſq; Commander, with a large Sloop which he re took the 20th ult and had been taken by a Spaniſh Privateer the 15th; This Sloop is laden with Mahogony Plank and Lignum Vitæ, belong'd to Meſſrs. Thorowgood & Cleland of Jamaica, was bound from thence for London, and had on board 31 Spaniards when re taken.

The Spaniſh Privateer lately taken by Capt. Gyles and brought in here, is the famous Sloop that was call'd La Packavet Real, or the Royal Packet Boat, Don Pedro de Avilla Commander.

A Snow in Diſtreſs, bound for London from Jamaica, whereof one Egleſton (who came aſhore at Exſs for a Pilot to this Port) is ſaid to be Maſter, is ſuppoſed to be taken by a Sloop that was ſeen to board and carry her off, while the Maſter was aſhore who is ſince come to Town.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Philadelphia to his Friend in Boſton, dated October 16th, 1746.

"——— While Mr Whitefield was in this Province, where he ſpent the greateſt part of the Summer, he was at leaſt three Weeks in this Metropolis; preaching once every Day (twice on Sundays) in the capacious Brick Building erected for him, to very large and ſolemn Aſſemblies: And I can aſſure you (every one here knows it to be true) that the People of Philadelphia were ſo far from growing regardleſs of him, that the longer he ſtaid the more he endear'd himſelf to them; his Congregations grew much the more numerous, and the more cloſe Attendance was given to his Preaching. His Auditors were conſtantly, Morning and Noon, wiſhing for Evening, aſſuring themſelves before hand, that his Diſcourſe would be inſtructive, and might be profitable to all who gave proper Attention; which indeed his earneſt Zeal and excellent Addreſs ſeldom fail to excite. A great Variety of weighty Matter, deliver'd in accurate Method, with an exact Propriety and Chaſtity of Language, was much admired in all his Diſcourſes; which were generally allowed to excel any we ever heard from him before this Viſit. We indeed often ſaw,

Ev'n Envy pleas'd, and Malice quite diſarm'd;
Each Countenance confeſs'd, the Heart was charm'd.

Nay, ſome thought, that DEMOSTHENES, had he lived and been preſent, would have admired the Chriſtian Orator. He daily ingratiated himſelf with ſome, who before were very zealous againſt him, 'till at length the Number of his Friends was larger than ever. Go almoſt where one would, he was kindly ſpoken of, and Cordial Wiſhes were to be heard for his Health and agreeable Journey to Georgia. He receiv'd much Kindneſs and Reſpect from ſome, who formerly objected to every Teſtimony of Regard to him. In ſhort, many have had their Prejudices altogether removed; others have conceiv'd more favourable Sentiments than once they had concerning him, and hardly one has open'd his Lips againſt him. To have put any Thing in one of our publick Papers to his Diſadvantage, would almoſt univerſally have been conſider'd as a palpable Mark of Folly in the Writer, if not in the Printer: And that, to hear any inſinuations injurious to him from the Pulpit, was diſagreeable to moſt most, a certain Preacher in this City was lately very well convinced. —— "
